

Free Webinar

Co-Teaching: Keeping it Real in 2020 Public Schools

Hosted by the UMBC TESOL Club

Danielle Healey

April 18, 2020 ♦ 10:00-11:00 ♦ Online

Sign up by emailing TESOL@umbc.edu to receive the webinar link.

In our ever-evolving schools, it is becoming clearer than ever that co-teaching is the way to reach English learners in the classroom. What does effective co-teaching look like? What are the barriers for English language teachers? Many of the models you have learned in class are excellent prototypes, but once you land that first job you will find that co-teaching in practice might look a little different. What are some ways to think outside the box so you can still reach the students? What are best practices for all students? These are some of the topics and questions we will address during the webinar "Co-teaching: Keeping it Real in 2020 Public Schools". While all will benefit from this information, there will be a focus on secondary, particularly middle school.

UMBC

40 Years of TESOL

Danielle Healey is a devoted language teacher with 13+ years of teaching experience. She has taught in a variety of middle schools within the Howard County Public School System. She has taught English language development classes, as well as full-time English language art classes to all learners. Additionally, she has co-taught in all middle subjects, and regularly leads professional development opportunities at her current school in Ellicott City, Patapsco Middle School. She is an instructional leader who values the team aspect and what goes on behind the scenes to make students successful in the classroom.

tesol.umbc.edu